The Christian Duty:

You must be holy in the way that God asks you to be holy, God does not ask you to be a Trappist monk or a hermit. He wills that you sanctify the world and your everyday life.

- St Francis Pallotti (1795-1850)

THIRD SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

First Reading: Isaiah 8:3 – 9:3

The prophet Isaiah describes the anguish of a conquered people, but he promises that they will triumph and will see a great light as on the "day of Midian."

Second Reading: I Corinthians 1:10 – 13, 17

Paul speaks to the Corinthians with both anger and indignation because they are quarreling among themselves as to whom they should show allegiance. Some wish to follow Paul; some, Peter; others Apollos; others, Christ.

Gospel Matthew 4: 12-23

Jesus begins his mission by going to Capernaum, fulfilling the prophecy of Isaiah. He selects Peter, Andrew, James and John as his disciples, inviting them to be "fishers of men."

VOCATION VIEW

Jesus said: "Come after to me and I will make you Fishers of Men." Today he could say: "I will make you mechanics of souls; doctors of wounded hearts, counselors of broken families, clowns in a joyless society." But regardless, Come. Be another Christ. If you would like to be a priest or have questions about the priesthood, please contact the Vocation office at (914) 968-1340 or www.NYPRIEST.COM "The World Needs Heroes".

Catholic School Week

Catholic Schools: Communities of Faith, Knowledge and Service

National Catholic Schools Week 2016 will be observed in dioceses around the country, January 31-February 6. This year's theme, "Catholic Schools: Communities of Faith, Knowledge and Service," focuses on the important faith-building, academic and societal contributions provided by a Catholic education.

"Catholic schools are a vital aspect of the Church's mission to preach the Gospel of Jesus Christ and so an important aspect of our own teaching mission," said Archbishop George J. Lucas of Omaha, Nebraska, chairman of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops' (USCCB) Committee on Catholic Education. He noted that Pope Francis reminded Catholic educators at the World Congress held in Rome in November to know the spiritual and corporal works of mercy and to offer them to students in Catholic schools as practical examples of how to live the Gospel. "By teaching the Good News of the Gospel, Catholic educators guide our students to Jesus Christ and his healing mercy," Archbishop Lucas said.

About 1.9 million students are currently educated in nearly 6,600 Catholic schools around the country. Students receive an education that prepares them for higher education, a competitive work environment, but most importantly, living a Christian life of virtue in a challenging society. "We want our students to keep their eyes fixed on eternity which is the ultimate goal of a complete education," said Archbishop Lucas.

Archbishop Lucas added that the backbone of Catholic education is the relationship between the parent, the school and the Church – each doing a part to provide an educational environment that keeps Christ at the center of each child's life within a challenging and nurturing educational setting. "Catholic schools partner with families to provide a quality faith-filled education for children. At this time in society, elevating the rights and duties of parents and families is a critical ministry in the Church," he said.

The observance of Catholic Schools Week began in 1974. Schools and parishes around the country will hold activities such as Masses, open houses and pot luck gatherings to celebrate the communities they represent. The week also highlights the educational and community successes of Catholic schools around the county. One example is that an estimated 98 percent of students graduate from high school and 86 percent of Catholic school graduates attend college. This percentage has been consistent over the past 20 years.

ENCYCLICAL ON THE ENVIRONMENT

Released on June 18, 2015, Pope Francis' encyclical, Laudato Si': On Care for Our Common Home highlights several basic teachings. First, the destruction of God's creation, and specifically climate change, is a moral issue. Second, there is an integral connection between our destruction of "Mother Earth" and the suffering of the poor, especially those in developing countries. Finally, immediate actions are required, by individuals, who must change their lives, and by the community of nations. Father James Martin, S.J. explores these teachings in a four-minute video: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=a_lqFTYLc_4 or google "James Martin video Top 10 Things You Need to Know about Laudate Si"

Why Choose a Catholic Cemetery?

Today, more than half of the burial spaces purchased in Catholic Cemeteries are made prior to death. When to select your family burial space is a decision only you and your family can make. By making this decision before it is needed reflects both a sense of thoughtful planning and economic prudence. The decision made now will be your own. The final good-bye at the Catholic Cemetery is a poignant beginning of the next phase of grief. At Resurrection Cemetery, there is ample space for ground burial, crypt space in the new mausoleum, and niche space for cremated remains. For more information, call 718-361-7738 or www.resurrectioncemeterystatenisland.com. Packets are available in the back of the Church
